MISSION

Established in 1962, the Nature Conservancy of Canada (NCC) is Quebec's leading not-for-profit private land conservation organization.

NCC relies on a network of partners who are inspired by its mission to conserve these remarkable sites and the valuable plants and wildlife they sustain, as a legacy for future generations.

NCC IN QUEBEC...

More than 550 km² of protected land

Accessible natural areas for visitors to explore

Protected habitats of more than 200 at-risk plant and wildlife species

Rated a top environmental charity for eight years running for efficient use of donor contributions

(source: MoneySense Magazine)

Close to 9 out of 10 Quebecers live less than 100 km from a site protected by NCC

Three-part mission Strategic actions, outstanding achievements

1

SCIENCE

PLANNING
CONSERVATION

NCC uses scientific methods and expertise to identify habitats and species to be protected. Careful planning ensures the future of these conservation targets.

2

SECUREMENT

IN ACTION

Through securement, NCC protects natural sites that are assessed as priorities. This work is made possible by an exceptional network of partners consisting of individuals, foundations, landowners, businesses, conservation groups, local communities and governments.

3

STEWARDSHIP

INVESTING FOR THE FUTURE

The sites secured by NCC are conserved through activities such as monitoring of species, trail development, trail maintenance, restoration of natural areas and activities aimed at raising awareness. An endowment fund ensures the long-term management of the properties.

NCC IN ACTION IN QUEBEC

Why give?

To protect our natural areas

For future generations

To contribute to the fight against climate change

To purify our air and water

To enjoy havens for leisure activities and rest

To provide refuges for species
